JOURNAL OF TURKISH SLEEP MEDICINE
JTSM
www.tutd.org.tr

Evaluation of the Relationship Between Sleep Quality and Occupational Accidents in Nurses

ABSTRACT

This study evaluated sleep quality in nurses and investigated its relationship with occupational accidents. Findings show that nurses with poor sleep quality-especially those working alternating day and night shifts-had a significantly higher risk of workplace accidents.

